Learning How to Retire in Style

Mar. 14--They saved it. Now comes the spending part

Millions of baby boomers who have worked hard and saved for retirement over the past few decades are now faced with the challenge of how to spend and manage their nest eggs once they retire. Figuring out how to do that while making the money last over their lifetimes is no easy task.

Since he was 21 years old, Daniel Foster always made it a point to put away money for retirement. Last September, the 62-year-old San Ramon resident retired from a career in industrial sales. His wife, Barbara, is still working as a real estate broker-owner.

"Part of this program is thinking ahead and where are you going. It's about trying to manage what you have. It's about living a life where you don't have to think. 'How am I going to manage to pay for that?'" Daniel Foster said.

The Fosters soon expect to start drawing some income from their retirement portfolio to supplement their monthly living expenses. Two investment advisers from Charles Schwab, a San Francisco-based provider of financial services, are giving the couple advice on how best to manage the portfolio while taking out withdrawals for living expenses.

"They're helping us to manage it so I can rest at night," said Daniel Foster, who is spending more time on the ski slopes with a volunteer ski patrol since his retirement.

Starting in the year 2011, the first wave of the country's more than 78 million baby boomers -- those born between 1946 and 1964 -- will start to turn 65 years old.

Four of 10 U.S. households owned an IRA in 2007, with total assets in those accounts valued at $4.6 trillion, according to the Investment Company Institute, a trade group for mutual funds. About three-quarters of those IRA households also have a 401(k)-type plan or company pension. About half of households without an IRA reported having a 401(k)-type plan or company pension.

A retirement portfolio can include many different financial vehicles. There are also brokerage accounts, savings accounts and money market funds.

The portfolio is meant to supplement whatever non-portfolio retirement income, such as Social Security payments or pensions you expect to receive at retirement.

Before you start cracking open your retirement nest egg, there are a lot things to consider.

What accounts should you draw down first? What are the tax consequences of those choices? How much of the portfolio should you take out each year to pay for your living expenses?

"It is a complicated topic," said Rande Spiegelman, vice president of financial planning at the Schwab Center for Financial Research. "The trick here is making the money last as long as you do and giving..."

OMB No. 1545-1709

• If you are filing for an Automatic 3-Month Extension, complete only Part I and check this box

• If you are filing for an Additional (not automatic) 3-Month Extension, complete only Part II (on page 2 of this form).

Do not complete Part II unless you have already been granted an automatic 3-month extension on a previously filed Form 8868.

[Part I]

Automatic 3-Month Extension of Time. Only submit original (no copies needed).

Section 501(c) corporations required to file Form 990-T and requesting an automatic 6-month extension - check this box and complete Part I only.

All other corporations (including 1120-C filers), partnerships, REMICs, and trusts must use Form 7004 to request an extension of time to file income tax returns.

Electronic Filing (e-file). Generally, you can electronically file Form 8868 if you want a 3-month automatic extension of time to file one of the returns noted below (6 months for section 501(c) corporations required to file Form 990-T). However, you cannot file Form 8868 electronically if (1) you want the additional (not automatic) 3-month extension or (2) you file Forms 990-BL, 6069, or 8870, group returns, or a composite or consolidated Form 990-T. Instead, you must submit the fully completed and signed page 2 (Part II) of Form 8868. For more details on the electronic filing of this form, visit www.irs.gov/efile and click on e-file for Charities & Nonprofits.
